

- Name: Steve Kitchen
- Current Position: Clinical scientist at Dept Coagulation Royal hallamshire hospital, UK
- Country: United Kingdom
- Professional Experience/ Professional Organizations:

Dr Steve Kitchen is currently Lead Clinical Scientist, Dept of Coagulation, Sheffield Haemophilia and Thrombosis Centre, Sheffield Teaching Hospitals. The centre is designated an International Haemophilia Training Centre by World Federation of Haemophilia. He has been Scientific Director for the UK National External Quality Assessment Scheme for Blood Coagulation since 2001 and a Director WFH for the International External Quality Assessment Schemes for Blood Coagulation since 2012.

With over 35 years' experience in the field of laboratory testing in haemostasis, Steve is active within committees and working groups such as the Steering Committee UK NEQAS Blood Coagulation (since 1992), World Federation of Haemophilia, Laboratory Sciences Committee (since 1993), SSC Working Group on Diagnostic Standards (since 1995) and ICSH Vice chair Haemostasis (since 2016).

